WRUTH AT JUDGE

Soup Case and Water Buffalo Fine Lead to Rupture Between Court and Attorneys.

JUDGE ANDRADE,

Against whom two attorneys make charges of unfairness,

A somewhat startling situation presents itself in the Honolulu District Court, over which court Judge Andrade presides, for certain attorneys are declaring that under no circumstances will they ever again defend a client in the police court, or, inferentially, while Andrade occupies the bench.

Whether it is to develop into a boycott of justice as far as defense before Andrade is concerned or whether the feeling that the interests of clients can not be served in the police or district court is confined to but a few of the number of lawyers who have business in the lower court, remains to be seen. The smouldering fire of discontent showed unmistakable flame from the long-existing smoke when Attorney E. A. Douthitt stated that he would never again endeavor to fight a case for a client in the police court, but that he would hereafter waive examination before Andrade and demand a jury trial in the higher courts. This follows soon on the declaration of Attorney J. Lightfoot who has for some time made it a practise to refuse to handle cases in the police court other than to waive examination and demand trial by jury.

Douthitt emphatically avers that an absolutely unjust decision was rendered yesterday morning in the case of a Chinese charged with assault and battery in that he spilled hot soup on a fellow countryman in a Magnakea street cook house. Lightfoot says the only safe way to guard the interests of clients is to demand a jury trial. To all of which Judge Andrade, vexed, but without any show of temper, replies that he does the best he can; that he is absolutely un- ON FRIDAY, AUGUST 19, 1910, prejudiced: that he shows no favor to any attorney, and that he treats no one attorney in a manner different to that used in his relations with any other attorney. He states, for example, that Attorney Charles Chillingworth, sometimes referred to as one of the fortunate lawyers of the police court, has lost as many cases in police court as has any other attorney. While the unpleasantness has been the two definite cases cited are those of Tom Quinn, chauffeur, fined for a mixup between his machine, a water buffalo and a wagon, and the case of vesterday morning. Douthitt's case yesterday was that in which a Chinese cook was fined $30 for spilling hot soup on a fellow workman in the kitchen. Douthitt, in speaking of the case, declares it to have been one peculiarly free from any evi dence of malice on the part of the deendant; that the spilling of hot soup from a dipper in the cook's hands was purely aecidental, another man having arred his elbow while the dipper conaining the hot soup was in process of being passed from one pot to another, the contents being jolted over the shoul der of the complainant, Complainant was scalded and was going to put cole water on the wound, when defendant advised him to make a poultice of ashes, which relieved the pain. There was no evidence of there ever having seen any ill-feeling between the Chi ese, the cook merely having chided hi assistant on one or two occasions for being late to his work. One witness testified that the spilling of the soup was accidental. Another said that he was not sure it was accidental. "I will never try another case in the olice court," said Douthitt yesterday morning. "If I have to defend a man in police court I will waive examination and demand a jury trial. I consider Judge Andrade has rendered an absoutely unjust decision. If the man was guilty of deliberately pouring hot sour on a fellow workman then the $30 fine imposed was not commensurate with he enormity of the crime committed. If he was guilty he should have heer fined the limit, $100. He should either have been fined the limit or allowed o go. I consider it unjust." The similarity of the case vesterday to the Tom Quinn case was referred to and the fact recalled that Tom Quint had been fined a modest sum when, if he was guilty he should have been fined very much more and, if he was no guilty, he should have been discharged without prejudice. In speaking of his announced inten-ion of never again defending a case he ore Judge Andrade, Attorney Lightfoot said vesterday: "I have what I consider to be very good reasons for declining to tre eason before District Magistrate Androde

Mr. Andrade knows what those reasons are. I have fully acquainted him with them. I do not believe in disensing hese matters in the public press, feeling that they would better be exploited through other channels. Many lawvers who are compelled to do business n the district court feel the same as I io, but from one reason or another have followed the course pursued by me, was not present in court and know only from hearsay of the trial of the ease in which Mr. Chillingworth proscented and Mr. Douthitt defended, but from the statements of persons present am more than ever satisfied that the plan adopted by me is the only safe ine, namely, to demand a jury trial." Judge Andrade does not know what Lightfoot means by "exploiting the matter through other channels," unless he means through the bar association, and he disputes the assertion that many awyers feel the same as Lightfoot, and he leaves it to Charlie Chillingworth and the police records to show whether or not any favoritism has been shown He declares that Douthitt was probably enthusiastic in the belief that his client was innocent and was in proportion disappointed at his conviction, the same applying to Lightfoot's defense of Tom

What will be done in the matter is not known, but there are many cases going up to the circuit court that might be settled in the police court if at least some of the attorneys were satisfied with the lower court.
